Ameribuild can save you heaps

By taking advantage of economies of scale, we can supply high performance windows and doors made in the United States at a price comparable to basic aluminium joinery made in New Zealand.

In the competitive North American market, double glazing, insulated frames, low-E glass, argon gas, and insect screens are standard features that are expensive upgrades in New Zealand. We offer these standard features to every New Zealander, saving you heaps!

Tested and certified

Our uPVC windows and doors have been independently evaluated by New Zealand engineering and building consultancy firm, Kaizon Ltd., for compliance with the New Zealand Building Code: they meet or exceed requirements. A copy of this report is available upon request.

All of our joinery has also been tested, inspected, and certified by the United States Window and Door Manufacturer's Association WDMA Hallmark Certification Programme, an international programme similar to CodeMark Certification.
