INTERIOR DESIGN STUDIO

Portfolio & Design Process

Hello and welcome!

We are interior designers specialising in space planning and interior design for residential projects including renovations, extensions and new builds.

We provide a 'end-to-end' service, guiding you through the entire design and build process from start to finish. Every project scope is unique and we are here to listen, problem solve and deliver every time.

Our founder and principal designer, Danielle, has over 25 years of interior design experience, graduating from UNSW with a degree in Interior Architecture in 2001. We're a close-knit team of four interior designers, producing everything for your project from our studio space in Mosman, where we invite you for presentations and appointments.

We have a roll call of industry contacts and professionals who we work alongside to provide the know-how and determination your project needs to get off the starting blocks and in the running.

We aim to deliver the very best standard of workmanship to your project. Our long-standing relationships with builders, trades and joiners are guaranteed to benefit your project and overall experience.

Our work has been featured in national publications including Home Beautiful magazine and Inside Out magazine.

We are a contributing member of Houzz and members of the Kitchen & Bathroom Designers Institute (KBDi).

- Q&A session to discuss further details of your project scope and requirements

2. A paid on-site Design Consultation. This is a 1.5 to 2 hour, in-depth consultation. This is a detailed session in which Danielle will:

- Evaluate your home with a walk-through and assess for functionality, aesthetics and advise on where to spend your budget
- Provide her expert and honest advice with insights from her 25+ years in the industry
- Discuss your ideas, how you would like to use the spaces, your lifestyle, personal tastes, and further discuss your timeline and budget
- Design Fee Proposal sent to you within one week

The Three Stage Design Process of our Full Interior Design & Design Implementation Service:

Stage One - Concept Design

- We send you a Welcome Pack outlining next steps and processes
- We guide you through an onboarding process, creating a detailed Design Brief for your project
- We conduct an internal measure up or receive CAD files from your architect/draftsperson
- We start on initial space planning, floor plans, design concept and selections
- We present to you in our studio, showing you initial floor plans, joinery designs, concept and mood board, plus physical sample boards with initial selections

Stage Two - Design Documentation

- Development of the plans and Concept Design with your feedback
- Development to highly annotated and detailed drawings sets, revisions allowed for
- Includes floor plans, elevations, lighting & electrical plans, window & door schedules, full Finishes, Fixtures & Equipment (FF&E) schedules
- Ongoing communication, selections and documentation presented to client via online Houzz Pro client dashboard
- All documentation and drawings ready for tender to builders

Stage Three - Construction

- Documentation and drawings sent to builders for tender
- Assistance with engaging builder and other relevant trades
- Revision of drawings sets and issue of final drawings for construction to chosen builder
- Review of all shop drawings for joinery, stone benchtops and shower screens
- Dedicated site visits during construction

Design Fees

To begin, the on site Design Consultation with Danielle is quoted with a set fee.

Following the Design Consultation, our fees for our design services are then presented to you in a Design Proposal, whether that's for our Floor Planning & Feasibility Service or Full Design Service.

A Design Proposal for our Full Design Service. is written in a room-by-room format and is based on the scope of work required for the project. The pricing is based on our previous experience of how much time our team dedicate to completing the requirements of your project.

Your Design Proposal also includes a Scope of Works. Any works required during the project that are outside the Scope of Works will be quoted separately before commencing.

Hourly rates that apply for all design, drafting, ordering and communication:

Principal Designer	$260 per hour inc. GST
Interior Designer and Studio Manager	$160 per hour inc. GST
Travel	$40 per hour inc. GST

Payments via credit card incur a 1.4% merchant fee.

Testimonials & References

We cannot recommend Danielle and her team highly enough - the experience was positive from our very first phone call to finalisation of our project. Danielle and the DVDS team added significant value to the interior design of our project. Communication was amazing, she was great at managing suppliers and she genuinely cared about making sure we were happy with the design (even if that meant more work for her to present additional options). When we have our next project we will be going back to DVDS.

Danielle recently provided interior design services for my residential renovation. It was a phenomenal feat, transforming an old dreary Californian bungalow into a spectacular light filled period home... Her attention to detail was flawless, while her finishes, fixtures, equipment and lighting selections were impeccable, that have proven a real showstopper. I cannot recommend Danielle and her team more highly, thorough professionals that were a delight to deal with

Frequently Asked Questions

If you haven't worked with an interior designer before, you might have a lot to ask...

Why hire an interior designer?

This is our profession and our bread & butter - it's what we do every day! With over 25 years of experience, Danielle has built a wealth of knowledge on how to add value to property, kick start projects, problem solve during construction and design a home that serves you and that you will adore. There is so much involved - we know it can be intimidating - and with so many decisions to make, it's best to leave this to a professional and let us do the leg work.

Why is knowing the budget important?

We ask this question so that we can make appropriate selections for your project. There are so many products and finishes available on the market, with varying costs, so we need a budget guideline in order to know where to 'pitch' your concept and designs. In construction, it's important to expect the budget to go over by 20-30%, so this should be allowed for in your overall budget.

What can I expect from the on site Design Consultation?

This is an in-depth paid consultation to gather all of your project requirements. We don't hold back on giving honest design advice and ideas. We discuss the project in detail and we give our expert perspective on the spot. Following this, we send you a custom Design Proposal of fees for our Interior Design Services on your project.

How do you charge for your interior design services?

Your project will be quoted individually, based on how many hours we expect to spend designing and managing your project. Our fees are charged on a room-by-room basis, and are dependant on the scope you require. We gather this information in the Design Consultation.

From what stage of a project do you like to be involved?

As early as possible! When interior architecture and design are considered at early stages of a project it can inform larger aspects of your renovation or build. So, the earlier we are involved the more opportunity there is for us to ensure your project is delivered to the best of our ability and, ultimately, your home is designed to its maximum potential for you.

Frequently Asked Questions

Can we live at home while renovating?

In some situations, it is possible, however we don't advise it. Builders prefer to work with the clients not occupying the premises, so we recommend discussing this with your chosen builder early on. Planning is key to your project. Any major renovation creates dust, mess and noise and isn't pleasant to live through on a daily basis. It may also cost more, as it may lengthen the construction period.

Do you project manage the build for us?

The chosen builder is your project manager and they run the building site and the trades used. We liaise with the builder and trades to ensure our drawings are implemented on site. We visit the site regularly, attend to any variations that arise, and implement our designs through the construction process.

Do you have a particular style you design to?

Our work encapsulates your personality and lifestyle. We work with you to understand your tastes and aim to marry that with the architecture of your home and objectives for the project. We're not here to impose our own 'look' on your home - it's unique to you - but we can guide your vision and plans to make sure everything is cohesive & functional.
