Workspace Acknowledgement of Peoples and Country

Workspace acknowledges Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples as the Traditional Custodians of all Lands on which we live and work. Workspace pay our respects to their Elders, both past and present. We recognise their cultural and spiritual relationship with their ancestral lands, waters and communities. We honor their ongoing contributions to the rich cultural heritage of our country.

Workspace values and respects Aboriginal and Torrest Strait Islander peoples, and we acknowledge the important role that both Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and non-Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples have played in shaping the education system in Australia, the country we call home. We recognize the contributions of both communities to the learning and growth of all children and individuals in this land that we share.

ABOUT THE ART WORK

The artwork depicts a gathering of women who have come together to prepare healing herbs and engage in the traditional practice of “yarning” (talking/discussing) around a fire. Through the depiction of this scene, the artist highlights the important role that women play in preserving and passing down traditional knowledge and healing practices in their communities.

The symbolism of the fire depicts the warmth and comfort of community, as well as the light of knowledge and wisdom that is shared among the women as they “yarn.” This artwork represents not only a specific cultural practice, but also the deep connection between people, nature, and cultural heritage that is so integral to many Indigenous communities.

ABOUT THE ARTIST

Kurruck Rankine-Meredith is a proud Aboriginal (Ngarrindjeri Darumbal) Man. His mother, grandmother being internationally recognised leaders from the Ngarrindjeri & Kurna Nation (Coorong & Adelaide Plains South Australia) and father from the Darumbal Nation in central Queensland Coast. Kurruck was born in Sydney – mid-way between these 2 Nations.

Kurruck is currently employed with Workspace within the Melamine Section within our South Australian Manufacturing facility.

Reconciliation to Kurruck is “having a mutual understanding and respect for each other’s cultures and histories, and acknowledging past injustices in Australia’s history to move forward as one”.

Message from Reconciliation Australia

Reconciliation Australia is delighted to welcome Workspace Commercial Furniture to the Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP) program and to formally endorse its second RAP, Innovate.

As a member of the RAP community, Workspace Commercial Furniture joins over 1,000 dedicated corporate, government, and not-for-profit organisations that have formally committed to reconciliation through the RAP program since its inception in 2006. RAP organisations across Australia are turning good intentions into positive actions, helping to build higher trust, lower prejudice, and increase pride in Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures.

Reconciliation is no one single issue or agenda. Based on international research and benchmarking, Reconciliation Australia defines and measures reconciliation through five critical dimensions: race relations; equality and equity, institutional integrity; unity; and historical acceptance.

All sections of the community (governments, civil society, the private sector, and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities) have a role to play to progress these dimensions.

We wish Workspace Commercial Furniture well as it continues its reconciliation journey.

“Reconciliation is hard work—it’s a long, winding and corrugated road, not a broad, paved highway. Determination and effort at all levels of government and in all sections of the community will be essential to make reconciliation a reality.”

On behalf of Reconciliation Australia, I commend Workspace Commercial Furniture on its first RAP, and look forward to following its ongoing reconciliation journey.

Message from our CEO

Workspace pays our respect to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Peoples and to Elders, past, present, and future.

“I am delighted to present and share our second Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP) Innovate, two years strategic plan. Reconciliation is a key pillar in our Diversity strategy and it sets out our key objectives of our cultural awareness, respect, education and employee opportunities”.

In developing our second RAP, we have looked deeply within our business and sought guidance from outside to identify opportunities for us to make a meaningful impact through the way we work as individuals and as a whole.

I am excited about the progress we have made to date under our Reflect RAP and we look forward to strengthening our relationships with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander community leaders and organisations, so that we can listen respectfully and take actions that support our vision to reconciliation.

Promoting a truly inclusive workforce is a strategic imperative for our business and I look forward to us continuing our RAP journey.

We make this public commitment to demonstrate our desire to achieve meaningful change internally and in our sphere of our influence.

Workspace Commercial Furniture

Workspace Commercial Furniture

One of Australia's most respected manufacturers; Workspace Commercial Furniture commenced in 1911 and has continued to revolutionise for over 112 years to meet the changing needs of their clients and the market. Workspace is a leader in design and manufacture of commercial, educational, hospitality, health and aged care furniture specialising in project-based solutions.

Workspace has showrooms located in Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide, Canberra & Brisbane and a 12,500 square metre ISO 9001 & ISO 14001 certified manufacturing facility in South Australia. With over 150 employees, Workspace has the experience and capability to undertake projects of any size nationally and internationally. We have sought to employ Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples through our recruitment strategy and currently we now have three Aboriginal employees.

The company's strength lies in its end-to-end service. Here, Workspace controls product design and development, planning, local manufacture, right through to despatch, freight and installation. Workspace works with its clients to achieve an industry leading turnkey service.

Following on from the huge success of the collaboration with leading European commercial furniture designers, Forma 5, Workspace has also partnered with Lamm and Cerantola and continues to increase exclusive product offering in the seating segment, as well as introducing a stronger design element to its business. Workspace's commitment to Australian manufacturing has resulted in partnerships with European supply partners that ensure consistent design aesthetic with quality inputs, manufacturing and value add occurring in Australia.

In addition, Workspace is committed to the promotion of Australian commercial furniture design. Through our extensive industry partnerships, Workspace has endeavoured to bring the best of Australian design to market. We actively seek to work with designers and firms to highlight the design expertise and access to Australian manufacturing. In conjunction with external design partners, and coupled with our internal product development design team, Workspace is also proud to offer an extensive range of AFRDI certified products thus proving strength, durability, stability and function.

Workspace is committed to an environmental and sustainable approach and understands the importance of continuing to improve our environmental impact. Consequently, Workspace aims to be an environmentally responsible commercial furniture and interiors supplier and currently have an extensive range of furniture that meets the markets needs for sustainability.

Workspace is proud of its South Australian heritage and as Australia's largest diversified commercial furniture manufacturer is proactive in ensuring future growth nationally and internationally from its base in South Australia.

Reconciliation Action Plan Innovate aims to help us continue to strengthen our capacity to develop culturally appropriate policies, programs and projects that embed respectful, long-term engagement with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, organisations and communities.

Our Vision

Our vision for reconciliation

Workspace spent more than a year engaging internally and externally to implement our first Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP) 'Reflect' and we share the vision for a fair and truthful relationship between Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and the wider Australian community, where the sacred link and attachment to Country is a gift to all Australians.

In this 'Innovate' RAP we keep focusing on developing and strengthening relationships with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples.

Our vision is to see First Nations cultures present and celebrated in Australian design and commercial furniture manufacturing and we are working towards this vision by supporting the next generation of First Nations peoples in entering and thriving in our industry.

Our RAP

We acknowledge the need for local business to educate their employees, contractors and suppliers in the importance of the engagement of First Peoples. We believe and live by the principles of diversity and we are dedicated to making a contribution to employment and business opportunities between Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and other Australians.

The commencement of our reconciliation journey started in 2019 and was supported and championed by our CEO. The Human Resource Manager and Quality and Environment Coordinator were key in the development of our 'Reflect' RAP, formalising our commitments to reconciliation and setting objectives and strategies to improve our relationships and understanding of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, their customs, traditions and their cultures.

Our 'Reflect' RAP was our introduction to reconciliation and through that process our aim was to develop a RAP that was holistic, positive and would lead towards internal organisational and cultural changes.

Key Learnings

CHALLENGES

- Having a low cultural understanding of First Nation peoples, their cultures and traditions and determining how to fill that gap
- Effectively communicating our intent and vision to all employees, clients, suppliers and the community
- Not effectively engaging with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples when recruiting

SUCCESSSES

- With a targeted approach to recruitment, we successfully employed another full time Aboriginal employee and a number of casual staff to complete several large installations

As we move to our 'Innovate' RAP, building on from our learnings, our new relationships, and as we look to the future, we do so with the inclusion in our RAP Working Group of one of our First Nations employees whose passion, enthusiasm, depth and breadth of cultural knowledge will enhance our education and engagement with our employees, our customers, our suppliers and our community.

WORKSPACE RAP WORKING GROUP MEMBERS

Tom Clark - Chief Executive Officer (RAP Champion)

Paul Rlaston - Human Resource Manager

Bronwyn Wright - Quality and Environment Coordinator

Karruck Rankine-Meredith - Production Employee

- Significant installations in the Yalata community supplying furniture to both the Tullawon Heath Services and Yalata Anangu School
- Supporting the SANFL Indigenous round with tickets for 45 of our employees

IMPROVEMENTS

- Keeping our employees, customers, suppliers and our community informed of our progress, the changes we make and the milestones we reach
- Cultural awareness for our employees

Our Values - V.O.I.C.E

Values and Respect

- We value to create an environment in which our people and customers feel welcome. We believe in delivering the best service with integrity along with enthusiasm. We are respectful, professional as well as unique. We celebrate differences, think creatively and continuously raising the bar.
- We respect each other. Respect guides all of our daily interactions – with each other, with our customers and with our products. Respect needs to come from the top down but also from the bottom up. It is about creating a working environment where all employees are listened to and valued. This means we always treat others in the way in which we wish to be treated ourselves. Morally, ethically and politically.
- Looking after the work area and removing any hazards as part of our day-to-day role is fundamentally about respect.
- Open and honest communication helps to build a respectful environment and polite criticism can make us better.
- Our Values are a journey, not a destination; we are always evolving and moving forward.

Optimism

- We look at things with a positive eye and an open mind, trying to see the good in things first. We are continually planning and working for success, choosing to contribute rather than criticise and looking to the future with enthusiasm.
- We believe design thinking is a powerful tool for innovation. We believe in continual improvement and that our goals and outcomes must be measured. We believe in ourselves.
- We believe empathy is the foundation of any true relationship. We believe honouring differences makes us stronger. We believe we all have the capacity to learn, grow and become a better version of who we were yesterday.
- Everything we do is with an effort to foster an environment of optimism, even in the toughest of situations.

Integrity

- Without integrity nothing else matters. It is honesty, trust, humility, and doing the right thing above all else. It is who we are.
- We honour commitments and we will never compromise ethics.
- The value of integrity applies to all our employees. It is vital we work with trust, transparency and honesty; and we always strive to demonstrate those characteristics in our daily work and in our dealing with our clients.

Customer Centricity

- We think holistically, strategically, and we are proactive rather than reactive.
 - We aim to develop the respect of our customers, suppliers and employees by providing an environment of trust, teamwork and involvement of all parties. We respect all individuals and value their contributions.
 - Our customers are the reason for our success, and we are committed to listen and respond positively to their needs.
- We:
1. Solve for a specific customer need
 2. Focus on lifetime customer value
 3. Always look for product improvements
 4. Are passionate about happy customers
 5. Going above and beyond
 6. Crave our customer's feedback

Efficiency Ethos

- Practical, Fast, Focused, Simple, Flexible, Save Cost.
- To achieve all this and more, and to remain profitable while doing so, we recognise the need for the organisation to show the highest levels of efficiency at all times and at all levels of the business. Every gear in the company is turned more efficiently when the work is focused yet fast, practical yet economical, flexible yet simple. We have always been about being able to do more with less. We believe in hard work and putting in the extra effort to get things done. We believe in operational excellence, and realise that there is always room for improvement in everything we do.
- We are obtaining the best possible outcome in the least wasteful manner by maintaining dynamic, relevant policies and procedures while consistently supporting a quality workforce.
- We grow because we take on new challenges. We must all not fear change and challenge, but to embrace it enthusiastically, and perhaps even more importantly, to encourage and drive it. We must never lose our sense of urgency in making improvements.
- Our efficiency ethos underpins our performance across the company.

Relationships

The journey to continually foster new, and build existing relationships with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples is important to Workspace in assisting our understanding of their connection to our country. Moreover, it provides the platform for us to engage with them about business, and work on engagements that are mutually beneficial and respectful.

Kurruck is currently employed with Workspace within the Melamine Section within our South Australian Manufacturing facility.

Reconciliation to Kurruck is “having a mutual understanding and respect for each other’s cultures and histories, and acknowledging past injustices in Australia’s history to move forward as one”.

Kurruck is part of the TAIKURTINNA Dance Group, founded by his uncle in Adelaide. Kurruck’s family; Mother, Grandmother, Father and his extended family were all musicians. Kurruck’s Mother and Grandmother were also community leaders; and he continues their leadership through expression, connecting through dance. “Dancing with TAIKURTINNA keeps the life’s work of my uncle going, keeping our culture alive by connecting with diverse audiences”.

Kurruck has previously performed and shared his message through dance at WOMADelaide.

To increase Workspaces efforts for reconciliation “Workspace can look to introduce a plan that has a Welcome to Country smoking ceremony and a talk of connection to country itself but also consider introducing an Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander apprenticeship program and to expand on the Reconciliation Action Plan, and ensure all the actions are continued for years to come as it will make a huge difference, not just to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander employees but to the reputation of the company as a socially, ethical brand for the future”.

Kurruck enjoys his employment at Workspace and wants to set an example for younger generations and break down stereotypes. Kurruck first began at Workspace as the cleaner but has since been promoted to the Melamine section where he is learning a new skill set.
